Reinforced Concrete is Being Rushed Along as Fast as

For New England: Fair Saturday and Sunday; moderate temperature, light to moderate west winds.

Predictions from the New York Herald: Saturday fair and warmer weather will prevail with light northwesterly to westerly winds, and on Sunday fair weather, with slightly higher temperatures. After having been delayed for some time by the non-arrival of the reinforcing for the new fireproof building which J. B. Shannon is erecting on the site of the one which was burned, the contractors have received their material and are now, hustling the job along as fast as possible. The wooden forms for the first floor have been in place for several days and a number of the upright supports for the floor had been filled with concrete and the steel reinforcements. The power concrete mixer which was started Thursday, but gave out, was in operation Friday and a rection of the floor at the back was said, the men working until well along in the evening to get that portion completed. By having a mixer operated by power the work can be hustied. The cement, gravel and sand go into a hopper with a certain quantity of water and after a few revolutions come out properly mixed and are dumped into a scoop which is operated in the elemoon water and after a few revolutions come out properly mixed and are dumped into a scoop which is operated in the elevator shaft. This is raised to the shute through which the concrete is poured into wheelebarrows and then wheeled to the location on the floor where the forms are being filled, in which the steelwork is first placed in position.

The work is watched by a large number throughout the day, it being something new in this section on such a large scale.

At the Plaut-Cadden building the outside work is about completed. The roof is on the building and as soon as the front is completed work will be started on the inside finish.

The contractor has the work well along on the new storage building for the W. H. Page Boiler company of North Main street. The company expects to be installed there by the first present building in Chestnut street and avenue.

At the Hopkins & Allen Arms company's plant the raising of the Frank-in steed and the new yoof is on. The old roof, by changing the rafters, became office is in the town clerk's office.
